WHAT WE LEARNED

December came and went in a flash! This month, Kindergarten has been working on the differences between fiction and nonfiction. First grade discussed what makes a group of books a series and read some of the Bruce books by Ryan T. Higgins. In second grade, we are working on becoming independent library users by learning how to use call numbers and the library catalog to locate books on the shelves. Third graders focused on narrative nonfiction and fourth graders worked on character traits, figurative language and discussion by reading realistic fiction.
